

Study in North Carolina

Information / Short Description

Founded in 1947, the University of North Carolina Wilmington (UNCW) is a public university with currently over 18,000 students, which combines the typical American college experience with seaside living. Academically, UNCW ranks as one of the best public national universities in the state and nation, according to the "2022-2023 Best Colleges" rankings from U.S. News & World Report and holds the outstanding AACSB accreditation in the Cameron School of Business. With more than 260 student organizations and a traditional American campus setting, UNCW offers a great academic experience. Wilmington itself is often referred to as "Hollywood of the East" by locals, as it is a well-known movie production and TV location. The wonderful and charming city on the southeastern coast of North Carolina is located just a few minutes from Wrightsville Beach which has been ranked one of the world's best surf beaches by National Geographic.

Start Dates & Deadlines

The academic year at UNCW is divided into semesters, each running for four months. There are two start dates each year, in January and August:

- Fall 2026: August 19 - December 11 (Deadline: May 1, 2026)
- Spring 2026: beginning of January - beginning of May (Deadline: November 1, 2026)

A mandatory two-day orientation takes place prior to course start. Earlier applications are strongly recommended to better your chances to get your first wishes for your classes and room type. Late Applications can often be accepted. For a study abroad semester please contact your home university's international office for individual internal deadlines.

” Hi, I’m Theresa, and I spent a semester at UNCW in fall. Since my first day in North Carolina, I felt very comfortable and was immediately integrated into the community. Through the orientation right at the beginning of the program, you not only get to know the campus, but also the contacts and many international and American students right in the first week of university. There is also so much to see and experience during the semester, making my time here a truly great experience. Everyone should take advantage of this opportunity—for me, it was the best time of my life so far. “

THERESA R.
